There are many ways we recognize the best of something. Each year, in February, the best team in the Football League crowned Super Bowl champion. In college football every year, voters narrow down the best athletes and present him with the Heisman Trophy. The reward for a successful music career can come in the form of a lifetime achievement award for being one of the best. Even household objects, cars and restaurants make the best of the list and are rewarded for their efficiency, mileage or hamburger award winnings. So it stands to reason that films boast their own grading system to determine which film is best for a particular calendar year. The process of selecting a best picture Oscar involves a complex singate system in which about 6,200 eligible voters rank films based on what they call the incentive system. Instead of choosing one of the favorites, for example, eight films are ranked from the most favorite to the least. Luckily for us, we don't have to pick any winners or favorites here. These are the best Film winners from 1928. But we have left you a job to do. See how many of the top Hollywood hits you can guess from the clues given.
