Here's an idea for you this Halloween season :) Give children "books" during trick or treatment instead of candy! An initiative launched by BooksForTreats.org because books feed children's heads, while sweets only feed their cavities. haha... All dentists and librarians in the house get up! Here's the origin of it: Books For Treats founder Rebecca Morgan began offering books to her ghouls and goblins at her home in Willow Glen, San Jose, CA, in 1995. She was frustrated that candy is the primary option for Halloween treats. She wanted a cheap treat that the children would like. She knew she could choose small toys, but she wanted something that would make a difference for the children and last longer than a few days. In its at the local library, Rebecca saw the boxes of softly read children's books to find out what she was spending on sweets. Aha!... She bought dozens of books that covered toddlers up to sixth grade, sorted them by grades and had her tricksters chosen from the age-appropriate books... After 6 years, she saw the reaction so Positively, Morgan decided to take the concept beyond her home and the community. She launched Books For Treats in 2001 to turn the leaf of problematic sweets into a treat... This movement has spread from its San José community to many others in the United States and Canada. Books For Treats recently received non-profit status, so tax-deductible donations can now be used to spread the word and help other communities set up a Books For Treats event. Pretty brilliant, right? Children LOVE books to read, and even if they get an eye roll or two, it's not that it's a huge business that misses a few sweets when you get 800 others that night! Haha... So yes - I'll try this year! Although maybe start smaller and go for 1/2 sweets, 1/2 books and let them decide? And then give full throttle "next year" if it works out well? This would also give you much more time to "find the books" instead of searching for deals at the last minute... I reckon it will cost a little more than you would normally pony to grab a few sweets, but if you know where to look, it doesn't have to be too much more. Here are a few places where you could score them cheaply: your bookshelves (FREE!) The bookshelves of your friends! (Everyone has books they can get rid of!) Thrift Stores (0.50 USD /ea usually) Yard sale (usually 0.25 USD - 0.50 USD/piece) Library sale Scholastic (1.00 USD books – see note in the comments of Rebecca) Mass places (< – they still need to research... If you can find a book that you think ALL KIDS will love, could you just order like 50 or 100 of them in one session and call it a day?) Many places you can easily score used books if you take care of them all year round... Oh – and yes, Books For Treats recommends softly used books about new ones, as it is better for our planet. Although really any great books would do. Also personal finances - gasp! Maybe like Three Cups, as we mentioned on the blog, or Money A to Z* by financial rock star and podcaster Scott Alan Turner? Who then donates 100% of the proceeds to various children's charities and thus* doubles the profits? :) Lots of ideas, but first we give him a shot and see what happens! Two full weeks to start searching and building this stock – I'll let you know how to do it! Here's more from Books For Treats if you're interested in participating... And I'm not being paid to share any of this btw, just a new fan and lover of them! Who is with me?? Link to Money A to Z above is a Affiliate Link Jay loves to talk about money, collect coins, blow up hip-hop and hang out with his three beautiful guys. All its online projects you can jmoney.biz. Thank you for reading the blog! Released on January 1, 2021 chairs and desks are necessary parts for most people's working environment, but it has its price. Often people experience back pain or neck pain when they are sitting in front of a computer. And in some of the Cases, people can experience multiple health problems because they sit on their chairs all day. This problem has existed long before this pandemic began, as people's lives involve a lot of sitting. We sit not only at a desk, but also on sofas to watch TV and much more. According to research, we spend an average of 13 hours a day sitting, whether for leisure or work purposes. It is no wonder that people need to find better solutions to improve posture. One of the best tools created for this reason is standing tables. A new view of something familiar, we'll go into details below about the benefits of standing tables that they're considering buying.7 Benefits of Standing DeskIf you're not too familiar with the trend of standing tables, know you're not alone. Standing places have only recently gained popularity and not everyone out there is too keen on them. Allow me, however, to show you some of the reasons why you are keen on it and are considering getting one.1. You will lose weightGenerally, losing weight requires burning more calories than what you are taking. You gain weight by taking more calories than you burn. In case of sitting at a desk, you are not really burning calories, although your muscles are sore and stiff after a while. On the other hand, even things like standing calories actually burn. Research shows that standing has burned more than 170 extra calories. In other words, you could burn nearly 1,000 extra calories if you stand at your desk every afternoon while working. Research also shows that sitting longer is so strongly associated with metabolic diseases and obesity.2. Lower blood sugar levelsalong the same lines, sitting for long periods of time can increase your blood sugar levels after meals. This is especially true for people with insulin resistance or type 2 diabetes. Even if you only stand at a desk after lunch, it can do a lot of good, as some office workers have testified. Researchers say standing for 180 minutes after lunch reduces the risk of a blood sugar spike by 43% compared to those sitting. This is one of the many advantages of standing tables.3. Lower risk of heart disease If you have lower blood sugar and burn more calories, you will naturally avoid fewer heart problems in the future. It is widely accepted at this point that the more you sit, the more risk you will have of heart problems.4. Reduce back painI would not suggest standing tables if I do not believe in their benefits, such as helping to relieve back pain. But there are Research to support the claim that standing tables reduce back pain. One study found that participants reported 32% relief from lower back pain after several weeks of using standing tables. The CDC also found that using a sit-stand desk reduced upper back and neck pain by 54% after 4 weeks of use. 5. Increasing productivityOne of common misunderstandings about standing tables they hinder daily tasks such as typing. Although we will not disagree that standing while at work will require some getting used to, most people have not seen a significant impact on typical work items. One study found that by using a stand-up for 4 hours a day, there was no effect on characters per minute or typos. In fact, you can be more productive than before due to improving both mood and energy levels.6. Increasing mood and energyGoing to detail with it, research shows that improving mood and energy levels is due to a reduction in stress and fatigue. One study found that those who used a standing desk reported fewer of these two things. More strikingly, when people are back at their desks, the general mood and energy return to their original level.7. Longer lifeConsidering that there is less risk for many health concerns, only alleviated by more standing, it makes sense that you live longer from this overall. There are an overwhelming number of studies showing how sitting is dangerous to our overall health. So stand more sense, what is due to the various advantages of standing tables that I presented here.10 Best standing tables How more studies emerge about the benefits of standing tables, the more they become attractive and the more people they want to buy. Of course, many companies have met this demand and offer a variety of options. In the following, I have selected some of the best standing tables that offer you all the above benefits and some other unique aspects.1. The Most Desk Space Standing DeskThis is one of the bestsellers around and for good reason – the stand-up table from FEZIBO allows you to reap the benefits of standing tables and offers a few other things to go about. One of the main aspects is the large work area. It covers a 55 x 24 room, which offers plenty of space when standing. In fact, you can easily fit two desktop monitors on this desk if you want! Buy the desk here.2. Best Adjustable Compact DeskFor those looking for a compact standing table, the seville Classics is a good choice. Unlike standard standing tables, this is more of a platform standing table. It should be on a workstation and not alone. Even in this small case, this offers plenty of space – about 30 inches wide and 20 inches deep – and also has a keyboard compartment. The other beauty of this desk is that you can easily convert this – and without noise – into a standing and sitting table. Buy the Sevilla Classics desk here.3. Alternative Adjustable Compact DeskA compact desk alternative similar to Sevilla Classics is that of ABOX. They have an electrically driven lifting standing table that can adjust to different heights. Like Seville, you can use this for both sitting and standing. The unique thing about it, however, is the slightly larger space and the automatic lifting with a button. In addition, is more stable and can hold up to 44 pounds. Buy the standing table converter from ABOX.4 here. Best High Rise Standing DeskFor those who want an even more unique design, one option is the Victor High Rise Collection. Like the previous two, this must require the support of an existing workstation. The big difference, however, is where everything is positioned. Because this standing table uses a support mast, this is ideal for monitors if you plan to use it for standing. Thanks to the additional panels that can be attached to the support mast, it also offers seating. Some other notable features are the simple tap technology, allowing it to convert quickly. It also has a safety sensor that protects you and your desk while the sensor detects objects as it sinks into a sitting position. As this is a support pole, you may adjust the height freely at any time. Try it here.5. Best L-Shaped Electric Standing DeskFEZIBO offers a variety of high quality standing tables and another one we wanted to mention was their L-shaped electric standing table. It is able to support itself, so there is no need for additional workstation support, and it is also in a unique form unlike other desks on this list. It is also fully electric and can easily fit between standing heights and seat heights if required. The design also makes it ideal for corner points or if you want to merge multiple L-shaped desks into one cooperative space. Try this desk here.6. Ideal Office Study DeskOne of the advantages of modern standing tables is their adjustable height. With two motors working together, this standing table offers a smooth and easy adjustment when it comes to height. This is also one of the more stable desks made of heavy steel. It can hold more than 260 pounds and offers the same heights as many of the standalone desks on this list. Another nice function are the 4 preset buttons. This allows you to adjust the height of the desk by transferring it to memory. Just press the M to adjust to the position and set it. Get here desksfrom from Ergosoft.7. Ideal Surface TopTypical standing tables often use wood or metal, but you can find the rare standing table that uses bamboo. At Uplift Desks, some of the surface panels are bamboo. Why is this so important? Now for one, bamboo is more robust than most other materials, while also being environmentally friendly and still having an appealing appearance. It can lift 355 pounds with its 3-tier edits and offers dual monitor space. It even comes with a 10-year all-inclusive guarantee that covers the to what other companies usually offer. Get uplifts bamboo desk here.8. Alternative L-Shaped Standing DeskIf you are looking for another L-shaped desk, an alternative from Mr. Ironstone. For the frames of FEZIBO, this offers the same high quality, but at a lower price, since only the frame is preserved. This special frame is made of metal, has 4 lockable rollers and cable management tray and touch control, and has a length of 43.31 to 59.05 – making it compatible with most workstation tops you want to attach to it. Buy the frame here.10. Laptop Standing DeskSIDUCAL makes standing tables that are suitable for laptops. While it will be difficult to get a monitor, the laptop stand table can offer some other unique perks.
